

TA 207 : READINGS IN THEATER

Transcript title

Readings In Theater

Credits

3

Grading mode

Standard letter grades

Total contact hours

30

Lecture hours

30

Course Description

Offers a study of selected plays, loosely grouped by country of origin, theme, era or playwrights. Emphasis placed on texts in performance rather than on literary analysis. Repeatable for credit.

Course learning outcomes

1. Demonstrate a clear understanding of the format of the play script, including the use of stage directions, sound, and music.
2. Read and analyze plays for their structure and meaning, using correct terminology.
3. Write analytically and descriptively about meaning, structure and thematic elements in plays.
4. Articulate and defend a production concept.
5. Write analytically and descriptively in a review of a live performance.
6. Effectively communicate ideas related to the works during class and group activities.

General education/Related instruction lists

- Arts and Letters